

RVGS President and Library Report

July 2024

1. Propose book sale during month of September in Reading Room.
2. Class follow--up help: Pam and I attended in person the class on June 21 on Records of the American Revolution. We were both able to spend some time after the class with attendees, answering some of their questions. Pam was able to help 2 or 3 people who had DAR specific questions. I helped one member who is beginning to focus her research on a New Hampshire ancestor, and another with a more general question about using the patron computers. Before the class I added the 2 books on the instructor's handout which we own to the display of books about the American Revolution in the front of room (placed there for the Member Meeting the previous week.) Several members asked the instructor about the items on her handout, looked at the two books she listed and at the other books on display, and at least one book was checked out.
3. Pat Jenkins resigned as our Education Director. I appointed Jeanne Hoadley as the new Education Director.
