The RVGS eNews

A Message from our President

Welcome to a NEW look for the RVGS eNews! The eNews is published monthly by the Rogue Valley Genealogical Society (RVGS), bringing you current information on happenings at the Jackson County Genealogy Library (JCGL), in the Rogue Valley, as well as in the greater genealogical community. You will also find tips for your genealogy research, new resources available, and general RVGS news. Watch for red text throughout the eNews, these are hyperlinks to important places. Because the eNews is only published once a month, we supplement it with news items on our website at rvgslibrary.org. There you can subscribe to our website to be sure you are staying up to date. Because the library is still closed and things are changing regularly, be sure to follow the calendar as well. Changes to events and additional events will be posted there.

Although the coronavirus has continued to spread and our doors may be closed, we have not stopped trying to bring you additional ways to continue researching your family ancestors! We are now offering all six JCGL subscription websites to our members through our website at rvgslibrary.org! More RVGS tidbits and things to do:

- Review the books in our catalog! Circulating items (books & magazines) with “CIRC” in the call number may be checked out. The 900 new items we received have been added to our collection!
- Volunteers are willing to do free look ups for you! Check out our website for more information.
- Our next Members Program & Meeting will be via ZOOM on September 15th. Jeff Roberts will be doing a presentation on Internet safety, including do’s and don’ts, is that link in my email safe? and password security.
- At the Members Meeting we will be presenting the RVGS Bylaws revisions we have worked on to comply with the new state laws. More information can be found in the eNews and on our website.
- We are excited to offer 5 FREE classes via ZOOM for Genealogy Week September 21-25. Please register for any or all classes on our website.

- The Heirloom Genealogy committee is gearing up to do Zoom “Case Studies.” Keep an eye out for more information on our website! Anne Billeter will be presenting the first case study on September 29th!
- The Education Committee has been busy too! They are lining up some wonderful virtual classes and seminars for everyone through Zoom. October promises to be busy!!!
- We are co-sponsoring programs online with Jackson County Library Services one Sunday a month this fall!
- We had to replace one of the 1996 air conditioning units at the library. We requested bids from numerous companies and awarded the replacement to Baumer’s Heating & Air in Eagle Point.
- And you just thought we were closed!

Looking forward to seeing you at our first Zoom Society Membership Meeting, September 15th at 1:30 PM. See below for links to the website to register and for help with Zoom.

Be safe!

Welcome New Members!

Welcome to Holly Hinderer and Kellie Owens, the newest members of the Rogue Valley Genealogical Society!

Bylaws Changes Proposed

Changes to the Oregon Nonprofit Corporation Act went into effect January 1, 2020. Many of these changes affect the way RVGS conducts its business and were significant enough to require revision of our Bylaws. The Board adopted the new Bylaws on August 10, 2020, and we are now presenting them to the membership for approval. Click here to read a summary of the changes and find links to the current and proposed Bylaws.

Membership Dues Increase Proposed

On August 10, the RVGS Board voted to present a $10 increase of the individual membership annual fee from $30 to $40 for approval by our members at the September 15 Society meeting. The $15 annual fee for each additional household member, as well as the lifetime member fee of $500, would remain the same.

Since the last member fee increase thirteen years ago, the Society has seen many changes to the services offered to members. We've relocated into a larger building, providing additional library and meeting space. Our library collection has grown over 50% in number of cataloged books and other library materials to over 20,000. Seminars and classes taught by both local and national speakers continue to provide educational opportunities normally found in larger cities.

The coronavirus pandemic, which has led to a temporary closure of our library and cancellation of in-person gatherings, has not slowed the Board's mission of keeping our members connected to genealogy research. The launch of our world-class website in March created the ability to offer our subscription services, like Ancestry and MyHeritage, directly to members in their home. The Education Committee, at the direction of the Board, has begun to offer classes via Zoom, with online seminars and programs also in the planning stages.

It is the top priority of your Board to ensure the financial viability of the Society and the library for many years to come, while providing the best possible value for the services offered to our members. A vote of "yes" for the change of the membership fee will directly support the RVGS mission: to inspire interest in genealogy, inform and educate the public, and maintain a growing sustainable library with a strong online presence.

Thank you,
Your RVGS Board

Heirloom Genealogy: Case Studies

RVGS is proud to announce a new monthly class series about family heirlooms and how research can lead to new genealogical discoveries. How can family stories about heirlooms be documented?

Register in advance for the first class in the series on Tuesday, September 29 at 1:30: Maryum's Yellow Rose is a quilt, a book, a rose, and Jackson County pioneers John and Maryum McKee's life story. The quilt was made in 1984 by the Jacksonville Museum Quilters. Dora Scheidecker created the overall design. Evelyn (Byrne) Williams, great granddaughter of John and Maryum McKee, drew the quilt blocks. The hand quilting was done by members of the Jacksonville Museum Quilters: Dora Scheidecker, June Haun, Mildred Stephens, Cecilia Blew, Roberta Peck, Verda Sanders, Pat Thurman, Joy Nichols, Gwen Paden, Dorothy McDougall, Teresa Mattson, Vada Richey, Edith Hayes, Virginia Cook, Joetta Ortner, Arlene Worland, and Helen Culy. The quilt is part of the Rogue Valley Genealogical Society's collection. The book was written by Evelyn (Byrne) Williams and is in the Jackson County Genealogy Library collection.

Zoom Co-hosts Needed

We have entered a new era for RVGS. During this time of COVID-19, along with many schools, we are entering the world of virtual education. Our instructors are learning how to deliver our classes via Zoom while you, our members, can attend from the comfort of your home.

For us to deliver a full slate of classes and events, we need assistance with Zoom. It is easier for the instructor to have a co-host, someone to monitor the chat log, check people in, and answer questions via chat. If you are comfortable with using Zoom, or would like to be, and would like to learn how to co-host or are even ready to go, please email Barbara Halvorsen at bjhh903@live.com or Pat Jenkins at pjenkins2364@gmail.com.

Nominations are Open

Each fall, RVGS members in good standing have an opportunity to serve the Rogue Valley Genealogical Society by running for a position and serving on the Board for the upcoming year. The Nominating Committee is interested to hear from you and has the information you need to make the decision to run for office. We hope that you will consider running.

The Board consists of Officers and Directors. The nomination committee sends a slate of Officers to be voted on by members at the general meeting in November. The Officers are sworn in at the December Society meeting. Directors are then selected by the incoming President. Both Officers' and Directors' term of service is for one year but can serve more than one term. Officers must run for office again to be re-elected while Directors can be re-appointed. If you have served previously, you are eligible to serve again in the same or different position.

Officers include: President, Vice-president, Secretary, Treasurer, and Trustee. If you are interested, contact one of us on the committee via email about your interest.

- Marilyn Ayres at aayres@aol.com
- Mary Robsman at: mrobsman@earthlink.net
- Chloe Sternola at cokiejcg@gmail.com

Talk with current officers Katie Haugse, President, Kim Thurman, Vice-President, Loretta Barker, Secretary, Barbara Shrewsbury, Treasurer, and Charlotte Wirfs, Trustee, or with others who have served in the past to make our society the fun and fine society it is today.

Join your genealogically eager friends and work together as we move through and beyond this unusual time. The friendship and support you gain from volunteering are beneficial to all our members and it is also great for you. (It would be great if we had so many of you running for each position that there would be campaigning with all the hoopla, hats, horns, banners, speeches. and a convention.) Seriously, what we really are looking for is your willingness to serve. We look forward to hearing from many of you.

Cheers, your Nominating Committee

Salt Lake City FHL Trip Canceled

The Family History Library does not anticipate being open for groups, if at all, at the time of our planned trip in October. They are not scheduling any groups for the foreseeable future. This means that we are canceling the Salt Lake City research trip that was planned for October 3 through 10.

Watch Facebook, this website, and the RVGS eNews for information about the Family History Library reopening. We can start planning again then.

While we continue our quarantine, here is a link to free online classes available through the Family History Library .

GIG Webpage Launched!

Members of the German Interest Group (GIG), led by RVGS member Mary Robsman, have been bringing wonderful research sources to members' attention for years, but there was no place to keep track of them. After discussing the problem, GIG took the dilemma to webmaster Rich Miles, asking if they might have a page to store the resources. Rich more than complied, working with GIG committee members Mary Tsui and Ann Baracker to develop an online resource page, arranged by topic, that links to a wealth of databases, organizations, events and official sites devoted to documenting the German diaspora. The site can be accessed through the RVGS Interest Group page. Please take a look! But come back often – the page is not yet complete and will be added to routinely.

I ❤️ the Web

by Mary Robsman

In August, the International German Genealogy Partnership emailed our RVGS German Interest Group. The local family history book, Baltimore, 1st version, had just gone online. Our German partner described it, probably in German originally. I presume the "prescribed protection period" in the text refers to privacy laws.

"All entries from the church register of the Protestant Lutheran Zion Church in Baltimore are completely covered from the beginning of the church book from 1786 to 1920. Later entries still concern marriages and deaths until 1977 - depending on the prescribed protection periods. In addition, entries from the U.S. Census, Find a Grave, and the Baltimore daily newspapers are also included. Individual families have already been supplemented with entries from German church records (Archion).

Baltimore was one of the largest immigrant ports after New York, and the new citizens chose German churches as the meeting place for their religious and other reasons. The Protestant Lutheran Zion Church in Baltimore was the first of its kind. It has held divine services in German since its beginning until today and in its long history it has only pastors who were born in Germany (with one exception).

So, it is not surprising that immigrants from all German-speaking (including former) countries appear in the church book. In my memory (but not assured) Lower Saxony is very strongly represented with Schleswig Holstein and Hamburg, Hesse, Baden and Bavaria.”

The Baltimore information can be found at <https://www.online-ofb.de/baltimore> that takes you to a mega-site IN GERMANY. I love this connection between United States and German researchers.

JACKSON COUNTY GENEALOGY LIBRARY NEWS

PERSI. What is it and how do I access and use it?

PERSI (PERiodical Source Index) is an index to articles in genealogical periodicals (magazines and journals.)

PERSI does not index every name in an article, but concentrates on major subjects: surnames, places, events. For example, a transcription of “marriage records from Green County, Wisconsin” would be indexed for Green County, Wisconsin, but not for the individual names of the brides and grooms. An article about the Broadhurst family, with multiple lines of ancestors and descendants with different surnames, would only be indexed for Broadhurst.

PERSI is available at FindMyPast, which RVGS members can now access through the RVGS website: rvgslibrary.org

1. Log in to the website.
2. Click on FindMyPast on the homepage, follow the directions.
3. At FindMyPast, look for “Quick Links” on the left.
4. Click “Newspapers and periodicals.”
5. Look for “Choose from our collection” on the left.

PERSI is NOT the easiest index to use, so volunteer Diane Brenner has written a guide to help us navigate PERSI successfully. Click here to find the PERSI guide on the RVGS website under “Library” > “Research Resources.”

WHY should you bother with PERSI? Lots of detailed, genealogically valuable information can be found in genealogical magazines. From transcriptions of records that have not and may never be digitized, to in-depth research and analysis of who someone’s parents were, there are many buried treasures to be found. FindMyPast is in the process of digitizing some of these periodicals. Others you will find right on the shelves at the Jackson County Genealogy Library (JCGL) and almost all periodicals at JCGL are circulating, which means they can be checked out even while we are closed during the pandemic. Email reception@rvgslibrary.org to arrange to pick up (and return) circulating periodicals and books.
